Jenea Evans

District Manager

Originally from upstate New York, Jenea moved to New Hampshire during the summer of 2025 in hopes to pursue a career in the conservation field. This is when she ultimately received the District Manager position at the Carroll County Conservation District. Jenea grew up on a small dairy farm where she developed a passion for conservation as well as agriculture. She went to SUNY Oneonta in Oneonta, NY to pursue a Bachelor's degree in Biology. During the summer of 2022, she worked for a local Soil & Water Conservation District as a buffer steward intern where she was able to care for and maintain riparian buffer zones for the summer. This is where she realized that she wanted to begin a career with a Conservation District. Now, she is excited to learn more about Carroll County and get involved in the community here.
